

PROTEIN SEEDS SHORTEN GRAFT DURABILITY

PROPOSED HYPOTHESIS

A proposed mechanism in amyloid-characterized models of hepatic replacement in aged rodents

Test the proposal using transfer assays and protein-specific depletion controls in aged rodent models of hepatic replacement. Verify that depletion preserves other bioactive material. No measurements or results are stored.