

Proposed hypothesis

Experiments test history-dependent semantic change

Humans: event boundaries and temporal memory.
Models: segmentation kernels.

Matched regular versus phase-jittered neutral cues test coupled retellings; phase measured independently.

Why it matters: Evidence beyond fixed attractors and content bias can test reciprocal phase-resetting in cultural transmission.