

Afferent adaptation delays thermoregulatory shutdown

A remote temperature cue may restore timely shutdown after weak second cold encoding.

